Sheriff's Dept. Answers 72 Calls

Last week saw the busiest activity of the summer for the Crawford County Sheriff's Department. According to Sheriff Joe White, his office handled 72 calls from last Friday evening of the 1st to Sunday evening of the 10th.

B & E's headed the list with 14 complaints, there were 15 larcenies, 15 disturbances, 9 malicious destructions, 8 marine investigations, 8 D.U.I.L.'s, 4 fights, 6 property destruction accidents and 5 personal injury accidents.

White's office also followed up on several other varied complaints ranging from littering to assault and battery. The ambulance was not as busy as past weeks with only 3 runs.

White's office also announced that 14-60mm rounds of ammunition, a 2-40mm rounds of ammunition recently stolen from Camp Grayling were recovered by guardsmen who found them hidden in the woods while on maneuvers last week.

Lovells Park Receives Grant

Washington D.C.—Douglas Park in Lovells Township will receive a major sprucing up thanks to a $5,288 federal grant, according to Congressman Bob Davis.

Plans call for the development of picnic areas, including family sites, a group shelter, play fields and parking facilities. The Land and Water Conservation Fund grant will be matched by a local share.

Vet Alerts Dog Owners

According to Paul Mesack, veterinarian at the Grayling Hospital for Animals, area dog owners should be ALERTED to a new form of virus which is apparently spreading throughout Michigan and the United States. Called a Parvo Virus, the disease is spread from dog-to-dog and is usually fatal in puppies up to 5 months old. Older dogs stricken with the affliction have a slightly higher survival rate.

Dog owners should be aware of vomiting and diarrhea in their pets. Control of the virus is through a difficult to obtain vaccine which is not currently available in the Grayling area. According to Mesack, pet owners who call his office for the vaccine will be placed on a waiting list and contacted when the vaccine arrives. Mesack went on to suggest that dogs be kept inside or under close control and away from other dogs as the Parvo virus is highly contagious.

The Grayling Hospital for Animals is actively trying to procure enough vaccine for the area but has been hampered by the fact that only one company in the United States is licensed to manufacture the vaccine.

If We Are Lucky!

by Harrison Goodhue

You have probably heard some of the Senior Citizens of our community over WGRY and WQON telling of the happiness and comfort added to their lives by the activities of the Senior Citizens Center.

The ending of each of their individual expressions of gratitude is: "You need them—they need you—and we all will be one someday, IF we are lucky!"

Think about that line for a moment. "IF we are lucky!"

and savor it's truth! If we are lucky we will live long enough to be a Senior!

In the next several weeks, in The Avalanche, and under that heading, will be a series of articles amplifying the feelings of our Senior Family in Crawford County as to what the Senior Center has been able to do for them by adding happiness and joy during their golden years.

And, who and why the Seniors feel the way they do about the Center.

Let's start with Ben Delamater. He has lived in Grayling since November of 1914, that's almost 66 years. He was 24 years old when he came and the town was known as Crawford Station. His wife's stepfather had the first store here when it was known as Crawford Station.

As Ben says, he "railroaded" for 40 years; was a Conductor and retired at 65 in January of 1956, 24 years ago.

Ben will be 90 this year. He lives alone in his own home here in town on Maple Street. His daughter Muriel lives in Grayling too, another daughter Bonnie, lives in Gaylord, and a son Howard resides downtown.

Still to Ben, "the Senior Center is the best thing that ever came into this town; it does more good for more people than anything else that ever came in here!"

Everybody at the Center knows Ben. He is probably the most respected person of the group, because, for the seven years his beloved wife was confined to Mercy Hospital he visited her every day at 11 a.m. Not once, in all those years, did he fail to reassure her daily of his love and faith, whether she could recognize him or not, she

Aces Mount Pleasant Course

Dave Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chet Johnston and a former resident of Grayling finally got his ace. He is a graduate of Grayling High School and was on the Golf Team for 3 years.

Bishop Heine was elected to his office at the May Convention of The Michigan Synod. He assumed his duties on August 1st. Dr. Heine began his ministry in Indiana, and for over 20 years served as the pastor of congregations in Monroe and Grand Rapids.

The members of St. John want to stress the fact that this is a service of Re-dedication. That is because we recognize that the building at 710 Spruce Street has already been sincerely dedicated to the service of God by the members of Mt. Hope Lutheran Church.

The plate offering at the Re-dedication Service will be given to the World Hunger Appeal of the Lutheran Church in America. Over 18 million dollars have been raised through this Appeal, and it has received world-wide recognition.

The American Legion Post No. 106 will hold their installation of officers on Saturday, August 16, at 4 p.m. This includes the Auxiliary, the 40 & 8 and 8 & 40. A dance is to follow, beginning at 9 p.m.

Wolverines End Summer Training

(Special to the Avalanche)

Camp Grayling—Two weeks of annual training for the Michigan Army National Guard will be wrapped up this weekend at the Hanson Military Reservation.

More than 6,400 Guard personnel took part in the training session. Most will be departing this Saturday by military convoy. Some units, such as those based in the more distant areas of the Upper Peninsula, will depart Friday.

Training was aimed at responding to a threat from Warsaw Pact nations. Within that framework, emphasis was placed on developing the skills of individual members of Michigan Army National Guard each year.

One of the highlights of the training session was the annual parade Friday at Camp Grayling. During the parade, troops passed in review before Gov. William Milliken and other dignitaries.

Gov. Milliken also made the formal presentation of a number of special awards.

Winner of the 1980 prestigious Stewart Medal Award is SSGT. Robert Taylor of Escanaba. He is a member of Company C of the 107th Engineer Battalion, headquartered in Gladstone. The Stewart Medal has been Through better seeds and more effective equipment for planting fields and drilling wells, it enables people to find long-range solutions in their quest for adequate food. knew someone truly cared!

During those trying years his friends and fellow Seniors at the Center—his contemporaries—were towers of strength and encouragement to help him find a life of his own while he endured his trial and travail.

Oh yes, the Center is more than a place to get a meal and while a way a few hours. It is a place where understanding, compassion and companionship can be shared and enjoyed.

If you are lucky enough to live long enough to be a Senior, hope, with all your heart, the Senior Center is still here and functioning.

Merna Newberry read the story of the day entitled "Little Fox Goes To The End of The World".

Once again the children enjoyed cookies and kool-aid in the Frederic Community Park after the movies.

I hope that everyone who attended our films enjoyed them and will be sure to attend them again next year.

Thank you to those who have purchased some of our books. We were able to add a few more books to our shelves, so there are still many for sale. The prices are 10 cents for paperbacks and 25 cents for hardcover. I made an error about the sale of books going to the building fund. It goes to the purchase of new books for the library.

We also have one new book added to the library this week. It is entitled "Rage of Angels" written by Sidney Sheldon. This is a story of a young woman's struggles to become a lawyer. Through many problems she makes good and becomes one of America's most successful defense attorneys.

I know everyone enjoys eating, but are you running out of ideas of something different to eat? Why not come in and check out one of our cooking books. We have a 21 book variety to choose from. These are only a few of them to give you some ideas: "Cookbook of the Seven Seas, Putting Food By: Game in the Kitchen, Crockery Cooking, Weight Watchers, Campground Cooking, Yoga and Jewish Cooking, and 365 Ways to Cook Hamburger." If any one of these sound interesting to you please come in and check out something different for dinner.

Glen's Market grocery tapes are still needed for the library. They help to provide Special Summer Programs. Your support is appreciated.

From Our Corner ...

What we have been reading the past couple weeks in down state daily papers has boggled the ol' fellas mind...how Iran and Cuba can do the things against the United States, supposedly the mightiest nation in the world, is beyond our comprehension...

Here are just three headlines in articles in one issue..."Sadr blames U.S. in hostage delay", that is Iran's President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr, the next "2 Iranian demonstrators sue U.S." the third, "Officials worry about jailed Iranians"...

The first headline is just pure propaganda, the Iranians just come up with another excuse when the old one wears out in the release of the American hostages...we often wonder how long Russia would have held back if the hostages were from the Kremlin?...they already have proved they don't give a dang for what the other nations think when they invaded Afghanistan, and still control the country...

The second to us was the most asinine...demonstrators, mind you, against our country (what ever happened to the word Treason) are able to find attorneys to represent them against the country that let them come in supposedly to make a new life for themselves...again we wonder how far these refugees would get if they were demonstrating against Russia...we believe they would find themselves in Siberia or the firing squad like the one used in their native Iran...

The third, like the second is asinine also...if the Iranians want to go on a hunger strike, let them, it's that much more food for people who appreciate living in Uncle Sam's country...again we cannot comprehend attorneys representing them...this is a free country, so one will say they have the same freedom as Americans...this I believe, ...only if they live like Americans and don't try to tear down our form of government...

Another day was the headline; "Rain, troops quell Cuban refugee riot"...here again Uncle Sam opened his arms wide and accepted Cubans into the country by the thousands...now as the undesirables demonstrate, we ask why doesn't the United States put them on boats and send them back to Cuba?...

Here is the first part of that Article...A heavy rain-storm and federal troops restored calm today at a Cuban refugee center ripped by a day of rock-throwing, window-smashing violence in 95 degree heat that left more than two dozen military policemen and 60 refugees injured...

The White House authorized 1,325 troops, including riot-trained military police from Fort Bragg, N.C. to report to help quell the disorder by hundreds of refugees...

I cannot remember Uncle Sam begging these people from Cuba and Iran and any other country to come live in the country of plenty...we're afraid if something drastic does not happen, good old Uncle Sam is going to be in the pickle barrel with no way out...

We read a long time ago that the United States didn't have to worry about going to war against the Russians...the Reds won't have to...they have enough agents in the country, plus all these foreigners demonstrating and keeping the turmoil going here that they will defeat us within our country...if you don't believe this, take a good long look at what has been happening all over the world that is inspired by the Kremlin...and take a good look in your own back yard...

As far as we are concerned...we believe Uncle Sam had better begin sweeping the floor clean of the undesirables, drop an iron curtain like Russias and doubly check those who wish to come here and live...other wise we will be in some what of a civil war inside the country, while Russia overthrows the other countries of the world that are not communist...

On a more pleasant thought...we attended the Papendick family reunion Saturday at the Beaver Creek town hall...here all along we thought the Madsen-Larson was a large clan...the Papendick clan is just as big if not bigger...it gave us a chance to have our T.C. family with us for the weekend...

This takes care of this week's turkey...we cheated again and got it out of the way Sunday...have a nice weekend...

THE UNITED STATES IN THE BALANCES

All of us sense that the United States of America is in the most grave position she has ever faced since her birth. Last week we looked at the facts of world conditions. When America needs to be strongest, we are on the way down. We have become so immoral we cannot trust each other. No wonder other nations are turning their backs on us. We have replaced the Work ethic with the Welfare ethic. We are slowly replacing Capitalism or the Free Enterprise system which made us great for Socialism which is slowly destroying us. We have replaced our faith in God with secular Humanism which has put man and his wisdom on the throne in America. We are more concerned about materialism or things than we are people, truth and right.

Only the longsuffering and mercy of a loving God has spared the United States of America from destruction during the past 20 years of our degeneration. Humanly speaking there is absolutely no future hope for our children and grandchildren in this world. Nothing but the hand of God can spare us now. The United States is now in God's balances and our attitude and action toward God during the next 5 years will determine the future for our children and grandchildren. Russia is strong enough today to destroy us and still hold off China and Europe.

As an optimist I have faith in God and America that He will spare our nation if we do the following things during the next 5 years:

1. Our nation must repent of Idolatry and Immorality. We must get back to the God of the Bible and start practicing Bible morality. If we do we can believe God's promise: "If my people which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land." II Chronicles 7:14.

2. The United States must continue to support Israel under all circumstances. God gave an unconditional promise to Abraham concerning the treatment of the nation of Israel: "And I will bless them that bless thee, and curse him that curseth thee; and in thee shall all families of the earth be blessed." Genesis 12:3. I firmly believe God raised up the United States of America for the rebirth and support of His people Israel. We are the only friend Israel has left in the world today. The Arabs are moving to control our economy so they can force us to turn against Israel. The oil embargo of the early 70's was just a taste of the future. God's blessing has been on us because of our treatment of Israel. To continue in God's blessing our support of Israel is a MUST. (Continued next week). (adv.)

Trim and discard all fat from meat. Cut the meat into 1/8 inch thick slices. Lay the strips on a cutting board and with a flat surface pound salt, pepper, garlic powder, basil and thyme into both sides of the meat.

Use not more than 1 teaspoon salt for each 1 pound of fresh meat and other seasonings according to taste.

Arrange seasoned strips 1/2 inch apart on drying racks or coke cooling racks and dry them in an oven at 150 degrees. Turn once or twice during the drying period. Prop the oven door open slightly.

When strips feel hard and dry to the touch, remove from oven and let cool. Store in a tightly covered container.

Serving In Marine Corps

Marine Lance Cpl. Eric A. Engstrom, son of David and Floldene House of Grayling, Mich., recently participated in the Marine Corp's annual rifle squad competition at Quantico, Va.

Designed to identify and recognize the best rifle squad in the Corps, he was one of nine 13-man squads selected to represent his infantry regiment and compete for the title "Super Squad 1980." His squad from Company L, 3rd Battalion, 1st Marines finished second in the competition.

The five grueling events utilized in the competition are considered to be as close to actual combat as can be simulated in a training environment.

The first phase included proficiency with the M-16 rifle, automatic rifle, grenade launcher, the light assault anti-tank weapon and the squad's ability to request and adjust 81mm mortar fire.

Phase two stressed physical and mental endurance while phase three involved night combat patrols. Phase four consisted of offensive tactics and the last event evaluated defensive tactics.

A 1979 graduate of Ainsworth High School, Flint, Mich., Engstrom joined the Marine Corps in August 1979.

They say that if you can't afford a vacation, you should do the next best thing and pretend you're taking one. So I did. I took a mental flight to London. I took a mental flight to Paris. Then I took a mental flight to Rome, but it didn't work out. Somewhere between Paris and Rome the airline lost my mind.

Co-Op Vacation Church School

St. Francis Episcopal and Michelson Memorial United Methodist Churches held a co-operative Vacation Church School on July 21st through the 25th. Seven classes with children two years old-6th grade worked and played together with the theme, "We Show God's Love." Every class had a teacher from each church. Besides their regular class time, each group had a time for music, recreation, and refreshments.

The 2 and 3 year olds cannot accomplish large projects, but they learned it is fun to come to church and made some items to take home each day to help them remember their experiences.

The 4 year olds were learning how to care for God's world. They visited the "Woof N' Pur" to learn how to take care of their pets. They also grew alfalfa sprouts and had a salad the last day of church school.

The First and Second graders talked about "Love" and the many ways we can show love. They made a banner for their classrooms at each church.

The Third and Fourth graders studied many kinds of church music used since Old Testament times. The class made instruments, a slide show which illustrated a "Psalm" and sang many songs with the guitar and the autoharp.

The Fifth and Sixth graders studied about how we got our Bible. They made their own paper and illuminated Bible verses.

The participants in the Vacation Church School enjoy the Christian fellowship in working together. We are truly one in Christ and our experience with the Vacation Church School help enforce our feelings of unity.

Par For The Course

The roast pig was done to perfection again by our visiting chef, Bill Denton and his wife, Donna, of Marlette, and when the party was over all that remained was a well-picked skeleton. Replete with apple and cherries the pig was carried into the clubhouse amid cheers from the one hundred diners who came to enjoy the afternoon. Accompanying the savory pork were baked potatoes, carrots, rolls, salad and brownies.

The cocktail hour and dinner followed a round of golf for twenty-four foursomes. Prizes were awarded winning foursomes which were determined by a drawing to match them up following play.

Bill and Donna were presented a gift from the club in appreciation of their efforts. A drawing was also held following dinner.

The committee in charge of the golf and dinner was chairman by Arnold and Pearl Tucker and assisted by Lee and Bunny Wilson, Ab and Evelyn Sager and Bob and Fay Boeve. Dale Nielson assisted in procuring the chef and the pig for roasting.

Winners for golf were: first place, J. Clingsmith, J. Dopp, T. Schans, S. Thompson; second place, E. Slusser, S. Bendig, H. Olson, J. Gundersen; third place, M. Pettengill, N. Fraser, L. Allison, B. Smith.

ELECTION THANKS

My write-in vote to qualify me for the general election in November for the combined offices of Crawford County Clerk-Register of Deeds was successful.

I just want to take this opportunity to thank all of my many friends for their support, in addition to all of you that would have helped nominate me if the Michigan election laws would have allowed voters to vote for candidates from either political party. Your support in the General Election will be appreciated.

Open Letter to Top O' Michigan (REA) Members

The three proposed bylaw revisions to be voted on August 15th at the annual meeting of Co-op members are not fully adequately explained in the annual report sent you early last month.

Certain of these revisions, Proposals No. 1 and No. 2 in particular, contain legal language that would unnecessarily constrain, and in some ways explicitly restrict, free exercise of member rights and prerogatives presently permitted. (Have you read the "fine print" closely?)

Change for the sake of change does not always mean progress!

I urge your vote in person or by proxy to politely but firmly reject these proposals. Their passage might produce a few satisfactions for Company management, but no particular benefit that one can easily detect for the great majority of our members!

Following a one year's absence, all films of the planned Travel and Adventure Series will be held in the Joseph Strip Auditorium which is located at the Grayling High School. All shows will begin at 7:30 p.m. and plans presently include a special program of music to precede each travelogue. These special performances will be by local talent.

Individual admission price for this years travelogue series has been set at $2.50. However, a full one third savings can be realized with the purchase of a "Passport to Adventure." Each "Passport" is good for 6 admissions which can be used by the owner in any manner he chooses. "Passports to Adventure", which are available by mail from the Grayling Community School Office, are priced at $10.00 for adults and $7.50 for students and senior citizens.

This year an added value has been included in the "Passport to Adventure." Each evening that a travelogue is scheduled, the Grayling Holiday Inn will be featuring an early evening buffet which will feature foods commonly found in the lands to be visited in the evening's travelogue. Persons who are owners of "Passports to Adventure" will in addition to their travelogue admission, receive a one dollar reduction on each of the six buffets to be served.

Episcopal

Fr. Dawson had limited experience in campus work at a parish adjacent to Michigan State University. He is excited at the prospect of again working with college students. East Tennessee State has as part of its program a medical school on campus and the Johnson City area has a strong medical facility. He is looking forward to the opportunity of working with these institutions and of improving his skills in hospital ministry.

As is the custom in the Episcopal Church, St. Francis' does not find itself with an immediate successor. This increases the church responsibilities for our lay people but also gives us the benefit of having considerable to say about the new person who will come to be our priest. The Bishop's Committee (our church board), elected by the congregation, will now begin a parish study to determine what are the most important needs of our members, of our parish church and of the community in which we live. Our church people will be consulted, a profile of a new priest developed and then names will be solicited from throughout the Larger Church to find the right person to fulfill our needs. It is our hope that we can obtain a new person soon but time is not as important to us as is calling the right individual to lead us. We are doing this carefully and prayerfully, believing that God is joining in our process too.

Until a new priest comes, our members will be working diligently, discovering more about what our priest does and about potential new gifts for ministry that we find within ourselves.

We are grateful for the work Fr. Walt has done here. Much has been accomplished. We wish him the very best!

Until a new priest arrives, it is business as usual. Information about St. Francis' and inquiries for assistance will be handled through our Senior Warden, Mr. Robert Harrington Jr. (348-7702) or home (348-2080) or our Junior Warden, Mr. John Notebare (348-7561). We are going to do our best in continuing the already fruitful ministry of our Church!

Mrs. Rosa Bloetscher of North Down River Road will celebrate her 80th birthday on August 17, and for those wishing to send cards her address is Rosa M. Bloetscher, R.R. 2, Box 2361, Grayling, MI 49738.

A contingency of thrill-seekers headed for Detroit this weekend. Those staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Reid formerly of Grayling, now of New Baltimore's Hidden Harbor were, David and Nancy Lemmen and Michael Delp and Claudia Elmasian-Delp. Tom and Gayle Mills joined the six-some at the Fisher Theatre for a performance of "A Chorus Line", and a look at the Polish Festival at Hart Plaza. Dinner was eaten at the Olympia and afterward they all went to the Bouzouki Lounge for an evening of entertainment, then capped off their weekend with a nightcap at the Old Shileigh one of Detroit's finest ethnic sing-along establishments.

On July 26, 1980 a Surprise Birthday and Retirement party was held in Saginaw at Evelyn Driellick (the former Evelyn Johnston) residence. We honored Laura Johnston on her 80th birthday and her son George Johnston for his 31 year Retirement from Chevrolet Mfg. Co. Through Evelyn's ingenuity in planning the Surprise, George thought he was going to Mother's Surprise Party and "Grandma" Johnston thought she was attending George's Retirement Party. Both were very surprised and pleased upon arrival!!! Over 50 people were in attendance, including Laura Johnston's own "kids". George and Mom received many lovely gifts and everyone had a wonderful time, even though the weather (RAIN) did not cooperate.

Anne Marie Church of New York City—Carleen Dane and Son Erik and daughters Katie Anne and Kimberly Marie of Coopersville, MI. spent a week recently with their mother, Ernestine Church and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Penny of Toledo, Ohio, spent a week with their sister, Mrs. Helen Harwood. Accompanying the Pennys were their grandson, Jimmy Maples and Ray Keller of Ohio. The boys spent four days on the river going from here to Mio.

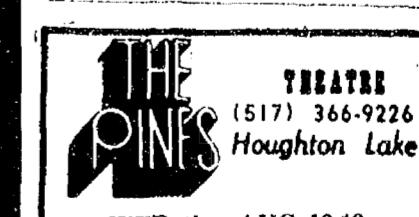

Mike And Angela Mathia from Lansing are spending two weeks with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Cragg.

Karen and Tina Roberts of Saginaw were here to spend two weeks with their grandparents, the George Denewitts. Aunt Julie and Uncle Allen enjoyed themselves as they were taken to Reptil World, Fred Bear Museum, and miniature golf. Their aunt and uncle took them down canoeing on the AuSable. Their parents came up this weekend to take them back home. We all had an enjoyable time.

Kim and Shelly Parkinson of Stanston, Virginia are the proud parents of a baby boy, Travis Neal. He was born on July 20, 1980 and weighed 5 pounds 14 ounces. Mr. and Mrs. Neal McDonald of Lansing, and Mrs. Ethel Parkinson of Grayling are the proud grandparents.

Convention thoughts offered

RICHARD MILLIMAN

The 1980 Republican National Convention is now history, long gone from active minds of most of us. Some 30,000 or so persons were involved in it, either as participants or observers. Most of them, at one time or another, had something to say about the convention.

Following are some assorted comments, collected around convention time, which comprise the last words on the 1980 Republican convention—at least from this column:

From Andy Rooney, television gadfly, came these comments:

"Those of you who don't go to political conventions will have to either excuse or ignore those of us who do. When you're at one, it seems very important, and when you're not, it seems like a lot of nonsense."

"The newspapers and the wire services and the television networks have all spent so much money getting here and being here that it must be important. To tell you the truth, I'm more impressed with the money being spent to tell this story than I am with this story."

From Lawerence Carter, columnist for The Detroit News:

It seems to me that one of the sore lacks of this Republican convention was good old-fashioned oratory. The speeches I heard all seemed reminiscent of the monotonous, declarative musica mode of rock music, like a call to the barricades. The speakers seemed to be so confounded eager to make points against the Democrats.

"There was no easy languor, no beautiful allusion, no poetic assonance and delight in any speeches I heard. They were uniformed left jabs with the relief of a well-turned right cross to relieve the monotony."

"What the Republicans need is a few good old-time orators who can charm, delight and mollify an audience while getting their message across."

From Time Magazine, in its convention roundup:

"Television years ago captured the political convention. But the political convention also captured television. The ratings wars depend in part on the network performance at the conventions, and the networks spare no expense ($30 million and 1,800 people for the 1980 Republican convention) to make a show of it."

"The networks have in some ways have replaced the parties as the vehicles of organization and information. Without television there is no convention. Without television there is no campaign. But with television, the convention is more than a few thousand people perspiring in the same large room. With television, the political convention is a national event."

As to the conduct of the convention, try George F. Will, syndicated columnist:

"It is said that life's crucial judgments concern which bridges to cross and which to burn. Some critics say the Republican platform makers crossed and burned the wrong bridges."

Another syndicated columnist, Richard Reeves, as did most of his colleagues, wrote about the Reagan-Ford "dream ticket" and its hassle:

"That's the way it is in conventionland. All sources seem reliable where information is power and rumor is coin."

Michigan Governor Milliken, being close to Mr. Ford, was one of the favorite news sources during that "dream ticket" night of intrigue. Explained Milliken, as the non-Ford ticket was formally formed: "I got lots of very unreliable information from formerly reliable sources."

Another participant in the Ford vice-presidential boomlet was Walter Cronkite, venerable television sage, who explained: "When you have open air time, there's lots of speculation because you don't have any facts to work with."

Detroit News Editor Bill Giles expressed my feelings about the whole Reagan-Ford co-presidency scenario:

"The story helped give the convention coverage a hype most of the media people badly needed. If it weren't the Reagan-Ford story, it would have been another. The media simply cannot live on pizza alone."

But what of the products of the convention, and the upcoming campaign? Observed Texas' John Connally, former presidential aspirant:

"I suspect that Reagan is smarter than any of us think he is. I didn't think it would carry him through the primaries, but it did. He communicates with his constituents, and they fill in the blanks. He leaves a thought with people that they can flesh out."

Considerably less generous is the State News, the student newspaper at Michigan State University, as witness this editorial comment:

"...To catapult Reagan into the White House in January would signal increased economic hardships, a step backward for women and minorities, and possibly a war with whomever looks cross-eyed at us...Any way you look at it, the Republican ticket is a one-way ticket to destruction."

A bit more objective was Newsweek columnist Meg Greenfield, who commented:

"Reagan the candidate and the platform he is running on both raise huge unanswered questions, in my judgement. There is plenty to argue and a lot to worry about there. But his candidacy and what it embodies are worth arguing with. They are not a joke. My guess is that Carter is going to have to fight him, to stop waiting (and praying) for the big goof, to engage Reagan on real-issues terrain. He is not going to be able to win by means of a protracted, satirical putdown."

My own view is closer to that expressed by an Australian newspaper, The Age, in Melbourne:

"Were Ronald Reagan...to become the 40th president of the United States, it is unlikely that he would be half as good as his advocates believe, or anywhere near as bad as his detractors predict."

Dear Editor:
In reference to my letter of July 11th about press coverage on the 4th of July parade.

I apologize for my poor choice of words in regard to the National Guard. I in no way intended to malign or discredit this fine organization. They have my deepest respect and deserve a heartfelt salute for a job well done.

My only intention was to gain a little more press recognition for any and all local citizens who displayed their Civic Pride & Community Unity with their efforts in participating in this festive occasion.

KCC Announces Entertainment Series for 1980-81

DIZZY GILLESPIE

Dizzie Gillespie, described as "The Greatest Trumpet Player in the World" is considered the Jazz Wonder of the Age. Also a comedian, blues singer and master of the conga drum, he has mesmerized audiences since the early 1940's. He will perform at KCC on February 21, 1981.

In May a top country star will be booked. The name of the artist will be announced in the near future.

On October 25, the New Reformation Dixieland Band, will provide an evening of Bourbon Street Style Dixieland Jazz. The band, based in Saginaw, is composed of seven clever and funny musicians led by the Opperman Brothers.

Other programs scheduled include the James Tatum Trio plus, a dynamic, unique jazz group; The Metropolitan Brass Quintet, featuring trumpets, trombone, french horn, and tuba; Danny Gaither, a warm gospel music singer and Roger Jamison who recreates Franz Schubert through song, piano and dramatization. Two hundred dinner reservations will also be available for the Jamison program.

Three productions of Kirtland's performing arts department are also offered in the entertainment series. A Broadway musical comedy, "It's a Bird, it's a Plane, it's Superman!", the Neil Simon broadway hit, "Barefoot in The Park", and a Christmas Music program are scheduled.

The kick-off event will be the appearance of humorist Bud Guests on September 5. Many Michiganders will remember his friendly voice which was heard for 36 years on WJR in Detroit. His program "On the Sunny Side of the Street" light heartedly dealt with a wide range of topics. Those in attendance will have the opportunity to meet with Mr. Guest at a reception following his presentation.

Three headliner artists are included in the series. Maynard Ferguson, Dizzie Gillespie, and a top county star are expected to draw a capacity crowd.

Maynard Ferguson, a Canadian, has received public acclaim in this country over the past three decades as a big band leader, trumpeter, and composer. He is currently enjoying renewed fame and recognition by general audiences for his performances of the themes from "Rocky" and "Star Trek". Ferguson's concert will be on October 25.

There will be a meeting for the Auxiliary Ladies August 14th at 1 p.m. in the North Wing. Please be present, several things to be discussed.

T.C.O.L.E.P. News

T.C.O.L.E.P. Director, Jonnie Ward and several youths from Crawford, Roscommon and Oscoda Counties returned from Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore last Sunday, August 10. Over the past week, Miss Ward and her backpacking troops hiked approximately 30 miles along the high-cliffed shores of Lake Superior. Each of the exhausted participants were glad to return after their adventurous, educational, but mostly tiring, week-long experience.

Today, several other T.C.O.L.E.P. participants are off on a day-long, adventurous excursion, hiking around Mackinaw Island. Their trip began at 7:30 this morning and will last until about 7:00 tonight.

Next week, the program director will be taking youths on a backpacking trip along the Pigeon River High Country Trail for six days.

Tri-County Outer Limits Encounter Program would like to see more youths try these adventurous and educational trips and would like to find some adult volunteers to assist. If you are a youth interested in the program contact the referral person in your county: Crawford: Carla Nolph, 348-7702; Roscommon: Larry Sullenger, 275-5221; Oscoda: Ed Benhke, 826-3228. THE ADJUTANT GENERAL

2 August 1980

Open Letter to Citizens of Grayling:

Your continuing support to the troops of the Michigan National Guard is greatly appreciated. Without these friendships that have grown over the years, our military members could not operate as successfully as they do.

Nearly 6,500 Michigan men and women are attending our annual training period this year and many will return throughout the year to vacation here. This in itself is a tribute to the community and its sincerity in making our Guard members feel at home, here in the North, and to those of the upper peninsula, in the South.

Thanks for your graciousness and continued friendships.

Regards,

Major General John A. Johnston

Bride to Be

by Merrily Lacasse,
Ext. Home Ec.

In this age of two-breadwinner families, there is seldom time for the traditional all-day canning session. But if you are home this summer, you can turn family time together into saved money and food insurance if your family cans some of the abundant Michigan fruit and vegetable crop.

Canning is the most energy-efficient food preservation method available to Michiganans.

Think of it. You have only a surface burner operating for less than an hour to turn out 20 pints of a shelf-stable food for storage. Your energy costs end when the lid is sealed.

A little care and planning can guarantee high quality canned foods to enjoy from your larder this winter. Home-canned foods should be stored in a cool, dry place away from the family living area, if possible. The storage area should be cool because even canned goods lose quality at too-high temperatures. And it should be dry because excess moisture can cause lids to rust through and allow food to spoil.

To insure the best quality from the work you put into canning, choose top quality fruits and vegetables and process them as soon as possible after harvest. Have your canning equipment clean and ready to work before you pick or buy your produce. Don't gather vegetables and store them in your refrigerator overnight or for a couple of days before canning them. Try to get them processed within two hours of picking, if possible. This is especially important for vegetables like peas and corn, which begin to go to starch immediately after harvesting.

Reliable, up-to-date processing methods are also important for top quality canned goods. Grandma's cookbook is not necessarily the best source of canning information. Contact your local Extension home economist for the best methods to use for the food you plan to can.

Organisms in the jars cause foods to go bad. Proper processing will kill spoilage organisms. Air is driven from the jar during processing. When the steam inside the jar condenses as the jar cools, the vacuum created seals the lids. Properly sealing jars prevents destructive bacteria from entering the food.

Acid foods, such as fruits and tomatoes, are vulnerable to yeasts and molds that are easily destroyed at boiling temperatures. Low-acid foods, such as most vegetables, may contain the organism that produces the toxin that causes botulism.

These spores are extremely resistant to heat. The only way to kill them is by processing food at 10 pounds pressure to raise the temperature to 240 degrees F. Botulism is a problem only with low acid foods that have been improperly processed.

For a top quality product, it is important to use the best equipment available. Use standard canning jars and new, tried and proven lids. Although you may see specials on unknown brands, check the brand name with your Extension home economist before you risk losing your money and effort by using lids that don't seal properly.

Several years ago when the great canning boom attracted many new lid manufacturers into the market, a number of brands appeared briefly, and not all of them were reliable. Many of those brands are no longer being made, but store stocks have not all disappeared. Some of those lids might still show up on special sales. Some are good—others are not. Verify the brand before investing.

If your family likes home-canned beans, an investment in a pressure canner can pay off for you over the 15 or 20 years a canner will last. If your family doesn't like home-canned vegetables, you might prefer to freeze them.

Pressure canners are made with either dial gauges or weighted gauges. Dial gauges can get out of alignment and should be tested every year. The gasket around the top of the pressure canner should seal tight enough to prevent any steam from escaping. Be sure your canner is in good working order.

The money you spend for good jars will pay over time because jars can be reused. Check jars each year to be sure they aren't cracked and the sealing edge isn't chipped.

Michigan's National Guard

'Survivability doesn't just happen. It must be developed.'

Brig. Gen. Charles Lamoreaux

For two weeks this August, Camp Grayling was transformed into the Grauberg area of Germany, a city located southeast of Luxembourg.

The transformation was part of a training exercise for some 6,400 members of the Michigan Army National Guard. According to the scenario written for the exercise, negotiations with the Warsaw Pact nations had broken down. Soviet troops were massing along the international border between East and West Germany.

Units of the Michigan Army National Guard, according to the scenario, were hastily deployed to the combat zone. Personnel and equipment were brought up to the 100 percent level as units completed their training. It was each commander's responsibility to prepare his troops for battle as soon as possible.

Training included detection of enemy agents, overcoming enemy jamming of U.S. military radio networks, protection against attacks from the air, and preparing defenses against attack by enemy troops and guerrillas.

"Survivability doesn't just happen. It must be developed," said Brig. Gen. Charles Lamoreaux, area commander of the Michigan Army National Guard. "Through continued practice, each individual can contribute his skills as second nature."

The first priority of Army training is to develop individual skills, Lamoreaux said. To provide that training for individuals and their units, a realistic situation was established. Within the framework created by the scenario, unit officers were required to draw upon management skills and technical training. Companies, squads and teams were required to meet various tactical objectives.

Michigan Army National Guard members taking part in the training travelled by convoy to Camp Grayling from locations throughout the state. The units represented infantry, armor, artillery, engineer, military police and various administrative and support units. The two-week training session began Aug. 2 and conclude Aug. 16.

The night sky is pierced by a flash of light during night training exercises by tank crews from Company B, 1st Battalion, 248 Armor, out of Manistee. The 1 a.m. exercise at Camp Grayling was planned to train members of the Michigan Army National Guard in the use of Xenon search lights and other night vision devices. (Photo by Sgt. Yesterday it was just a patch of grass beneath the trees at Camp Grayling. Today it's the spot of two inflatable Michigan Army National Guard hospitals. The hospitals are maintained by the 207th Combat Support Hospital, headquartered in Detroit. The unit is one of three in the country to have a Medical Unit Self Transportable (MUST) hospital. The hospital is self-contained with its own water supply, electricity, heating and air conditioning. The 200-bed unit also is complete with four operating rooms and can be transported to a site and be fully operational in eight to 10 hours. (Photo by SP4 Gale Bentley, 126 Public Affairs Detachment)

ROUND WE GO

Going around in circles used to be fun. Now it has become the identifying mark of human bewilderment. For millions of people life seems a whirling confusion that takes them nowhere....

All religions have one thing in common: they stress the belief that life has purpose which man needs to seek, discover and fulfill. In short, religion is the cure for going around in circles.

Christianity inspires people to seek life's purpose in the love and will of God. When we join with others in the worship and work of our churches we discover goals for living and the spiritual strength to reach them.

When the merry-go-round has ceased to be merry it's time to get off. Yes, and time to get on with purposeful Christian living.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the doctors and staff at Mercy Hospital. Also many thanks to our friends and neighbors for their thoughtfulness.

Augusta Katona and Son, Steve, Jr.

Frederic Community Library

The Frederic Community Library held its third film program on Wednesday, July 30th, with 19 children present. The films shown were "Munro" and "Foolish Frog".

Merna Newberry read the story "Who Said MEOW?"

Cookies and kool-aid were served and the children enjoyed them in the Frederic Community Park.

Don't forget the books we have for sale at the library. We also have the Michigan Centennial Books on sale at the library for $5.00 each.

Please don't forget to save your Glen's tapes to help the building fund for a new library and also to support the film program. Your help is greatly appreciated.

Around the World With Steve Rison

EDITORS NOTE—This is part five in a five part series covering Steve Rison's Trip "Around the World".

In Indian experience now drawing to a close, my friends threw a farewell party for me on my last night. It was a nice contrast to leaving a place again as an anonymous tourist but filled me with sadness, too, as I realized that I now have some more good friends in another far-away place. Nevertheless life goes on and after many hugs and handshakes, I boarded my plane and 9 hours later walked off in Frankfurt, Germany to begin the final chapter.

WOW—What a culture shock! India to Germany in one jump! From masses of humanity crowded into busses, scooters, carts to moving sidewalks and sparkling new plastic seated subways. Unique disorganization and incredible division of labor to sterile almost mechanical efficiency, chappatis and buffalo and to wurst and sauerbraten, and the most dramatic contrast 8 rupees to the dollar versus 1.75 Deutchmark to the dollar—in other words, there won't be anymore two buck a night luxury suites around here!

From the airport I got a ride to Koblenz/Tahnstein and there connected with the friends I spoke of earlier. Tahnstein is a small town across the Rhein River from Koblenz where the Rhein and Moselle Rivers meet. It is a beautiful area set in the rolling hills and castle-dotted country side of what is known as "The Rheinland". My first few days were spent sightseeing around the area with the Fritz family, the weather being spring-like and my spirits high.

In Memorium

In Loving Memory of Pat Harwood who passed away one year ago, August 12, 1979. Often a lonely heartache, And many a silent tear, But always a beautiful memory, of the one we loved so dear. Margie Harwood and Family

I would like to express my appreciation to the many wonderful people who worked in my behalf during my campaign as a candidate for Sheriff of Crawford County. It was a close race and I feel it was because of all of you I did so well. You were just great.

Many thanks for the money contributions. My thanks also to the many people who voted for me. Your vote was deeply appreciated.
